

Lab Visitors

Olga and Joan Thomas of the College of William and Mary are shown here teaching William and Mary Graduate Students how to run the FTIR so assistance is not require on a regular bases

Tyler Stukenbroeker an undergraduate student at William and Mary and Steve Singleton a William and Mary Safety Engineer came to the labs for a tour.

Lab Visitors

Melissa Pocock, one of Dr. Michael Kelley's summer students, used the FTIR to complete a piece of her summer project.

Scotty, the Beautiful Bernese Mountain dog of Suffolk's Tornado Alley, came to the ARC Laboratories this month to give the researchers a five minute break, rejuvenating them for the rest of the day.